Chapter seven

Unpublished Thesis or Dissertation

Once a thesis or dissertation is published, treat it as a regular book. However, referring to the unpublished forms requires a special type of note showing the type of work, the name of the institution for which the material was written, and the date it was accepted. In addition, the title appears in quotation marks instead of being underlined since the work has not been published.

Examples in APA style

Exercise

Use the information in the following statements to write a complete citation for each book and article mentioned.

(a) Recently I came across a useful book called Creating contexts for second language acquisition. It wa= published by Longman and was written by Arnulfo G. Ramirez. It was published in 1995. The publisher is located in White Plains, in New York State.

(b) I strongly advise you to read that article in the History of Applied Archaeology Quarterly. Its author is a famous researcher named I. M. Inman. You'll find it between pages 119 and 123 in volume eighty-six. The title of the article is "Types of clay used in ancient Acapulcan pottery." It appeared in the journal in September 1934.

(c) Because of a 1992 article that I came across when I was writing my term paper, I changed the main idea of the paper; the article is entitled "Evreinov and Pirandello: Two theatricalists in search of the chief thing." It is on pages 130-136 of the journal Theatre Survey, in volume 32, and was written by T. Pearson.
